ग्रेजुएशन के बाद करियर संबंधी छात्रों को करवाया अवगत

लुधियाना, 13 सितम्बर (भूपेश): श्री आत्म वल्लभ जैन कालेज के करियर काउंसलिंग सैल द्वारा आई.क्यू.ए.सी. के मार्गदर्शन में 'ग्रेजुएशन के बाद करियर के अवसर' पर लेक्चर का आयोजन किया गया। इस लेक्चर की मुख्य थीम 'रोड टू बिग करियर आफ्टर ग्रेजुएशन' थी।

युवा छात्रों को कैट, मैट, इसबैट, गैट आदि की तैयारी और स्नातक के बाद करियर के अन्य अवसरों के संबंध से अवगत करवाया गया। हिंदसबुली से राहुल जैन और राजीव शर्मा इस सत्र के मुख्य वक्ता थे।

वक्ताओं ने युवा छात्रों को 21वीं सदी में करियर के विभिन्न पहलुओं और सफलता प्राप्त करने के बारे में मार्गदर्शन किया। उन्होंने छात्रों को परीक्षा में केवल अंकों तक सीमित रहने की बजाय कुशल बनने के लिए प्रेरित किया।

छात्रों ने करियर क्षेत्र से संबंधित कई तरह के प्रश्न पूछे, जिनका उत्तर उन्होंने बड़े ही विस्तार से दिया। कालेज प्रबंधक कमेटी के प्रधान कोमल जैन ड्यूक व अन्य सदस्यों एवं प्रिंसिपल डा. संदीप कुमार ने इस इंटरैक्टिव सत्र के आयोजन करने के प्रयास की सराहना की।

No. of Participants – 65 (Students), 6 (Teachers)

Objective of the event – To enhance the understanding of students regarding different aspects of Union Budget.

About the Event

IQAC Cell of Shree Atam Vallabh Jain College, Ludhiana organized Live budget session of the event “Budget pe Charcha” in college campus on 1st Feb 2023. Budget is the annual financial statement of a government which lays out fiscal roadmap for the country for the next one year. Union Budget is presented by Finance Minister on 1 Feb 2023. The live budget show was shown to students so as to make them understand the different aspects of Union Budget.

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitaraman commenced presentation of Union Budget 2023 at 11:00 a.m. on 1st Feb 2023. The entire telecast was shown live to the students. After that a brief review of budget was presented by Principal of the college. Then, the open house discussion was done by the students considering the following key points.

- Inclusive development.
- Reaching last mile.
- Infrastructure and investment.
- unleashing potential.
- Green growth.
- Youth Power.

The current budget met the 85% expectations as discussed in Pre budget session. The President of the College Management committee, Sh. Komal Jain (Duke), and other members of the Managing Committee along with the principal sir, Dr Sandeep appreciated the efforts of IQAC of college and said that these types of sessions will prove very fruitful for the students.

Press Coverage of the Event

Budget emphasised on sustainable micro irrigation and cultivation of coarse grains that will help small farmers. Fiscal deficit has declined. There is little increase in allocation for education, but overall it's satisfactory.

Dr Sandeep Kumar | PRINCIPAL, SHREE ATAM VALLABH JAIN COLLEGE

Exemption on capital goods and lithium batteries will promote electric vehicles. Funds for infra development will boost manufacturing sector but Income tax slabs seem disappointing.

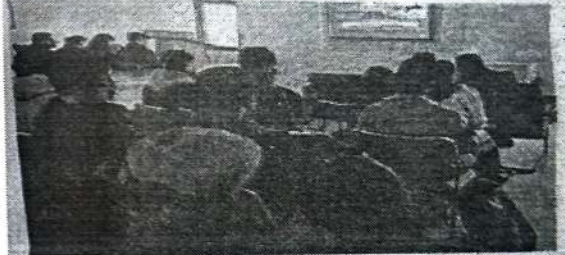

Rishi Kesh | PROFESSOR, SHREE ATAM VALLABH JAIN COLLEGE

Steps on green growth, defence, infrastructure, nano-technology and AI are highly appreciable, but government seems to be on backfoot on health and education, as there's no hike for them.

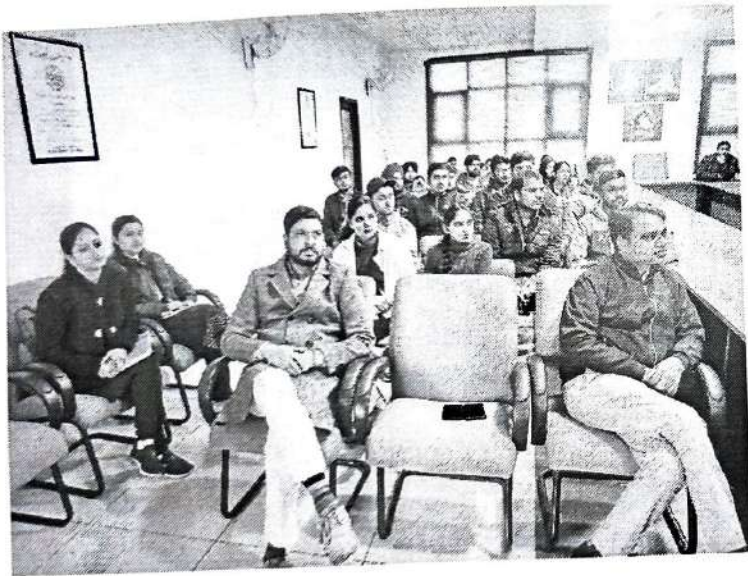

Amit Goyal | ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF COMMERCE, SAVI COLLEGE

स्टूडेंट्स के लिए बजट पे चर्चा कराई

लुधियाना। श्री आत्म वल्लभ जैन कॉलेज के आईक्यूएसी सेल की सभा से स्टूडेंट्स के साथ बजट में चर्चा पर सत्र कराया गया। स्टूडेंट्स के लिए प्री-बजट सेशन और स्पष्ट बजट शो कराया गया। एक दिन पहले कॉलेज में पूर्व बजट सत्र कराया गया। पूर्व बजट सेशन में प्रिंसिपल डॉ. संदीप कुमार ने छात्रों को बजट के विभिन्न पहलुओं पर जानकारी दी। उन्होंने कहा कि वार्षिक आर्थिक संदी और कॉलेज-19 के संभावित पुनर्गठन के कारण आत्म आदमी मुद्रास्फीति के कार में स्थिति है। पूर्व बजट सत्र में पिछले वर्ष के बजट पर चर्चा की गई और वर्तमान बजट से अपेक्षाओं पर भी चर्चा की गई। सुधवार को स्टूडेंट्स के लिए लाइव बजट शो निर्धारित किया गया। तत्पश्चात कॉलेज के प्रिंसिपल ने बजट की संक्षिप्त समीक्षा प्रस्तुत की। छात्रों ने बजट पर चर्चा की। इसमें आयकर स्लेब में बदलाव, आईआईटीएल इंटेनिजेशन, हरित ऊर्जा पर चर्चा शामिल रही। वर्तमान बजट 9.5% उम्मीदी पर खास उल्लेख किया कि पूर्व बजट सत्र में चर्चा की गई। कॉलेज प्रबंधन समिति के अध्यक्ष कोमल जैन (इक्क) ने कॉलेज के आईक्यूएसी सेल के प्रयासों की सराहना की।

Brief description about the Event

This Finishing School Program was organised by Career Counselling Cell under the aegis of IQAC of the college. The main idea behind organising this 5 day program was to minimise the gap between industry expectations and fresh graduates. Various National and International resource persons from industry gave insights to different important areas of industry in order to make the students intune with industry demands. Workshops on Group

Discussion, PPT presentation and Mock Interview of students were also held during this program. The day wise details are shared as follows:

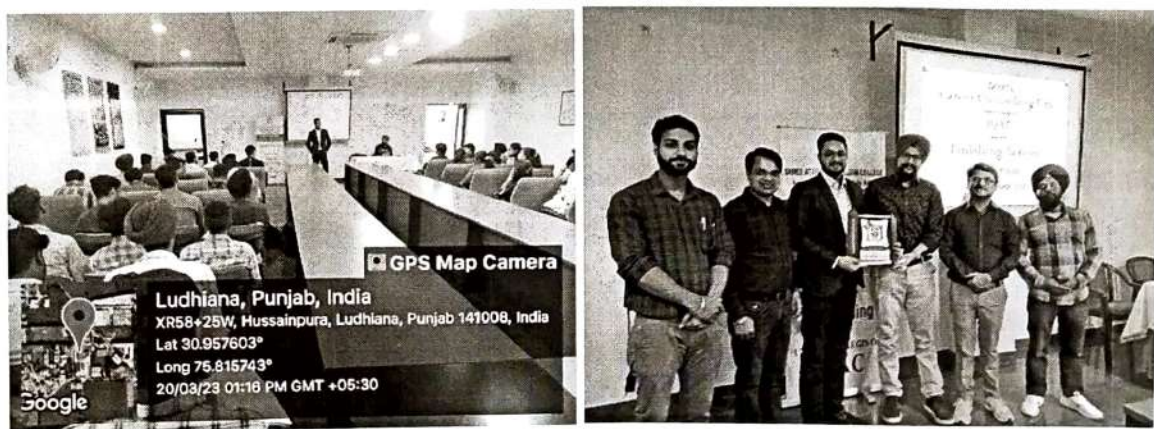

Day 1 (Session 1): CA Vijay Garg shared his personal experience with the students that how he became a CA and how he got finally settled in Dubai. He told about the various career opportunities which are available for the students globally. He also encouraged the participants to work hard for achieving our goals.

Mr. Vijay Garg

Vice President - Finance Head Group Acquiring, United Arab Emirates

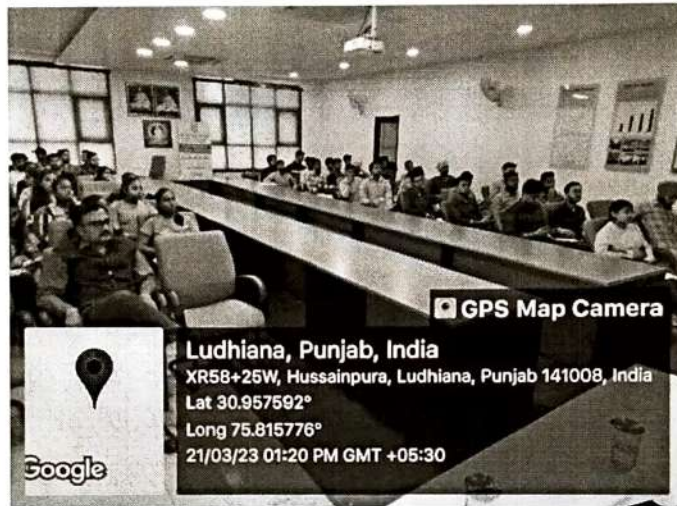

Day 1 (Session 2): Mr Sharma shared his interview experiences with the students. He encouraged the students to participate in public speaking and to read business case studies and business newspaper daily.

Mr. Varun Sharma (Alumni of the College)

Lead Hypermart Sales, Punjab Region, Arcelor Mittal Nippon Steel Ltd.

Day 2: Mr. Rahul Paul started the session focussing on the difference between a resume and curriculum vitae, that is, CV is whole document about our activities in whole life and resume is summary of our personality for a specific job. He emphasized that for building an attractive resume, good vocabulary is very important and for that Mr. Paul suggested a book name 'Word Power Made Easy' to the students. Then for acquiring internships, firstly he advised not to seek stipend and take internship as a learning program exposure. He asked the students to make a profile on LINKEDIN to build contacts and get internships.

Day 3: CA Nitin Jain threw light on actual effective automated practices adopted in the industry by sharing his throughout life experiences and discussed about detailed production process in garment manufacturing factory. Moreover he advised students to adopt the automated practices in work places by developing automated accounting, virtual CFO, enterprise resource planning software's in order to prevent leakages in work system.

CA Nitin Jain

Managing Partner, N.G. Jain & Associates

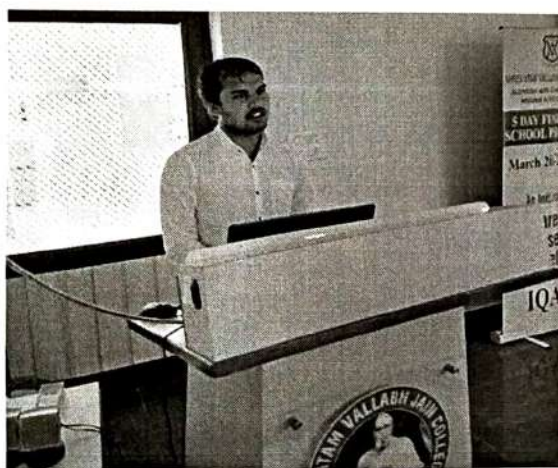

Day 4: Ms. Sheetal Dhatteval covered two topics i.e. Personal Interview and Group Discussion. She gave the brief description about what skills are required in order to have an interview and what an interviewer generally looks for in a candidate.

Ms. Sheetal Dhatteval and Mr. Rahul Paul
(Counsellors cum Trainers, HitBullsEye, Chandigarh)

Day 5: Presentations by the students

On last day, a presentation competition was held and students made presentations on various topics already allocated to them. On this day, winners of review session competition were also declared which the students were presenting on daily basis during the 5 day program.

Captures of presentations made by students on various topics

All the students were awarded with certificates of participation. Feedback for the sessions was taken from all the participants on daily basis and was discussed with students on the concluding day. President of the College Management committee Sh. Komal Jain along with other worthy members of the College Management Committee and the principal of the college, Dr Sandeep Kumar thanked the resource persons and while addressing the students asked them to move forward with confidence in the direction of their dreams.

LUDHIANA : As many as 1,200 graduates and postgraduates from across Punjab participated in the mega job fair organised on Wednesday at Shree Atam Vallabh Jain College in collaboration with the District Bureau of Employment and Enterprises.

The fair was aimed at empowering and supporting the youth by providing them a hassle-free platform to connect with potential employers.

This included major companies such as Duke, Indra Hosiery Mills, NIIT, Sanjh, ICICI Bank, Westside, INNOV, Pukhraj, Vayutel, Neva, Vast Linkers, Star, LIC, PVR, State Bank Of India,

12,000 ASPIRANTS PARTICIPATED IN THE FAIR

IIFM, BYJU'S, Coca Cola, Lavya Associations, Team Lease, Alliance, Nik Bakers, Amazon, Rapido, Times Pro, A k Clinics, Frontier Softech, Mansha Financial Services, and Agile.

As many as 38 prominent companies participated in the fair to look out for young professionals equipped with the skill sets that fit the needs of their firms.

Komal Jain, president of college managing committee, principal Sandeep Kumar appreciated the participating colleges as well as companies.

Activity: Faculty Development Programme on Advanced Research Methodology Tools & Techniques

Organizing Committee: Research & Development Committee

Session: 2022-23

Venue: Conference Hall

Objective of the Event: The objective of Faculty Development Programme (FDP) on advanced Research Methodology tools and techniques is to equip faculty members with the necessary knowledge, skills, and tools to conduct high-quality research in their respective fields. The FDP aims to enhance participants' understanding of various research methods, data analysis techniques, and research ethics, enabling them to contribute effectively to the academic and research community.

About the event

Session 1: Writing and publishing Article using Bibliometric Analysis

Resource Person: Prof. Shilpa

Date: 17th September, 2022

Time: 2:15 pm

The session on bibliometric analysis aimed to provide participants with a comprehensive understanding of bibliometric methods and tools for analyzing research literature and evaluating research impact. The session covered a range of topics, including bibliometric indicators, data sources, and analysis tools.

The session started with an overview of the historical development of bibliometric analysis, which dates back to the early 20th century. The resource person explained that bibliometrics is now widely used to evaluate research productivity and impact, and to identify emerging research trends and potential collaborators. She introduced the basic concepts and metrics of bibliometric analysis, such as citation count, h-index, and impact factor.

The resource person also discussed the importance of data sources and data quality in bibliometric analysis. The most commonly used data sources for bibliometric analysis are Web of Science, Scopus, and Google Scholar. Furthermore, she also provided some examples of bibliometric analysis, such as co-authorship analysis and citation network analysis. These tools are very helpful to researcher in identifying important research themes and knowledge gaps.

Finally, the resource person discussed some of the challenges and limitations of bibliometric analysis, such as the lack of standardized metrics and the potential biases introduced by the data sources and the citation practices of different fields. The participants gained a comprehensive understanding of bibliometric methods and tools and were equipped with the necessary skills to apply them in their research studies.

Session 2: Mendeley-Reference Management Software

Resource Person: Prof. Amit Goyal

Date: 18th October,2022

Time: 2:15 pm

The session on Mendeley aimed to provide participants with a comprehensive understanding of the software and its features to enhance their research skills and streamline their research workflow.

Prof. Amit Goyal covered a range of topics, and here are some of the key takeaways:

- Installation and Setup: The Resource person provided a step-by-step guide on how to install and set up Mendeley on participants' computers. Participants learned how to create a Mendeley account, import their research literature and references, and customize the software's settings.
- Literature Management: He guided the participants how to use Mendeley to manage research literature, including adding and organizing references, creating folders and tags, and annotating PDFs. Participants also learned how to use Mendeley's search and filter functions to find specific references quickly.
- Citation Management: The session also covered how to use Mendeley to generate citations and bibliographies in different citation styles, such as APA, MLA, and Chicago. Participants learned how to use Mendeley's citation plug-in for Word or LibreOffice to insert citations and create bibliographies.
- Collaboration and Sharing: Prof. Amit explained that how to do collaboration with other researchers, including sharing references, creating shared folders, and adding notes and annotations. Participants also learned how to use Mendeley's social features to connect with other researchers and discover new literature.
- Advanced Features: The workshop covered some of Mendeley's advanced features, such as automatic PDF renaming, duplicate detection, and full-text indexing.

Overall, the Mendeley reference management software session was highly beneficial for participants who wanted to enhance their research skills and streamline their research workflow. The participants gained a comprehensive understanding of the software and its features and were equipped with the necessary skills to use Mendeley in their research studies.

Session 3: Quantitative Data Analysis

Resource Person: Dr. Harleen Kaur

Date: 15th November,2022

Time: 2:00 pm

The session aimed to provide participants with a comprehensive understanding of statistical methods used to analyze the relationship between variables and to test hypotheses. The session covered a range of topics, including correlation analysis, regression analysis, and ANOVA tests.

The resource person presented a research paper in which she discussed how to use correlation analysis to measure the strength and direction of the relationship between two variables. Participants learned the relevance of correlation coefficients, such as Pearson's correlation coefficient, and how to interpret them. She discussed how to formulate research questions that can be addressed using regression analysis. She emphasized the importance of selecting appropriate variables and developing a clear hypothesis. The session covered how to select the most appropriate regression model for the research question. This includes selecting the type of regression analysis, such as simple linear regression or multiple linear regression, and selecting the independent variables for the model.

The resource person also discussed how to test hypotheses using ANOVA which includes calculating the F-statistic and the p-value, and interpreting the results. She explained how to report the results of ANOVA in research papers which includes reporting the F-statistic, degrees of freedom, p-value, effect size.

Overall, the session on Correlation, regression and ANOVA test in research provided participants with a comprehensive understanding of how to use them to compare means between two or more groups

Session 4: Latex-A Document Preparation System

Resource Person: Prof. Manoj Arora

Date: 4th March, 2022

Time: 2:00 pm

LaTeX is a document preparation system that is widely used in academia and scientific research. In this session on LaTeX software, the resource person covered the following topics:

- Introduction to LaTeX: Prof. Manoj Arora discussed what LaTeX is, its history, and its benefits. He explained how LaTeX is different from traditional word processors and why it is better suited for scientific and technical writing.
- Basic Structure of a LaTeX Document: he discussed the basic structure of a LaTeX document, including the document class, preamble, and body. He explained how to create a new LaTeX document and how to add text, equations, and figures to it.
- LaTeX Commands: He expressed the different types of LaTeX commands, including text formatting, document structure, and mathematical notation and explained how to use LaTeX commands to format text, create headings and sections, and add mathematical symbols and equations.
- Bibliography and Citations: He discussed how to use BibTeX to create a bibliography and citations in a LaTeX document and how to use templates and packages to customize the appearance and functionality of a LaTeX document.

Overall, the session on LaTeX software provided participants with a comprehensive understanding of how to use LaTeX for scientific and technical writing. Participants learned how to create a new LaTeX document, add text, equations, and figures to it, create a bibliography and citations, use templates and packages, and collaborate with others using version control systems.

Session 5: Sampling Design and Techniques

Resource Person: Dr. Sandeep Kumar Bansal

Date: 11th March,2023

Time: 2:00 pm

The session on Sampling Design and Sampling Techniques provided participants with an in-depth understanding of the various sampling methods and their applications in research. The session covered both probability and non-probability sampling techniques, as well as the different types of sampling bias and how to minimize them.

The session started with an introduction to sampling, where the importance of sampling in research was emphasized. The concept of probability sampling was then discussed, which included simple random sampling, systematic sampling, stratified sampling, and cluster sampling. Participants learned how to calculate the sample size for each method, as well as how to minimize sampling error.

The resource person then moved on to non-probability sampling, which included convenience sampling, purposive sampling, snowball sampling, and quota sampling. Participants learned about the advantages and disadvantages of each method, as well as when to use them based on the research question and study design. The session also covered sampling bias, which can affect the validity and reliability of research findings. The different types of sampling bias were discussed, including selection bias, response bias, and measurement bias. Participants learned how to identify and mitigate these biases to ensure the accuracy of their research findings.

The session was concluded with a discussion on how to report the sampling design and techniques in research papers. Participants learned how to describe the sampling method used, report sample size, calculate the sampling error, and report any sampling bias.

Overall, the session on Sampling Design and Sampling Techniques provided participants with a thorough understanding of the different sampling methods and their applications in research. Participants learned how to design and execute a sampling strategy for their research, how to minimize sampling error and bias, and how to report their sampling design and techniques in research papers.

Session 6: Partial Least squares structural Equation Modelling (PLS-SEM)

Resource Person: Prof. Rishu Jain

Date: 18th March,2023

Time: 2:00 pm

The resource person presented a research paper on the topic “Customer Relationship management Practices in Indian Automobile Industry” in which Partial Least Squares Structural Equation Modeling (PLS-SEM) was used. It provided participants with an understanding of the theory, application, and interpretation of PLS-SEM.

The session started with an introduction to SEM, where the differences between covariance-based SEM and PLS-SEM were explained. Participants learned how PLS-SEM can be used when the sample size is small or the data does not meet the assumptions of covariance-based SEM. Prof. Rishu Jain then discussed the different components of PLS-SEM, including latent variables, reflective and formative measurement models, and path coefficients. Participants learned how to build a PLS-SEM model and how to estimate the model parameters using software such as Smart PLS.

Advanced topics such as measurement model evaluation were also covered in the session. Participants learned how to assess the reliability and validity of their measurement model, as well as how to detect and correct measurement error.

The session also covered structural model evaluation, where participants learned how to evaluate the overall fit of their PLS-SEM model, as well as how to assess the significance of path coefficients and the effect size of the relationships between variables.

Finally, the session was concluded with a discussion on reporting and interpreting PLS-SEM results. Participants learned how to interpret the path coefficients and effect sizes in their model, as well as how to report the results in a clear and concise manner.

Overall, the session on PLS-SEM provided participants with a comprehensive understanding of the theory, application, and interpretation of PLS-SEM. Participants learned how to build and evaluate a PLS-SEM model, how to detect and correct measurement error, and how to report and interpret their results.

Session 7: Food protection plan in India: An application of multiple objective Programming Technique

Resource Person: Dr. Sandeep Kumar

Date: 3rd April,2023

Time: 1:30 pm

The resource person presented session on "Food Protection Plan in India" focused on applying the Multiple Objective Programming Technique to address the challenges related to food security and safety in the country. The session aimed to explore how this technique could be utilized to optimize the allocation of resources and develop effective strategies for safeguarding India's food supply chain.

Key Points Discussed:

1. Food Security Situation in India: The session commenced with an overview of India's food security situation. It was highlighted that despite significant progress, the country still faces challenges in ensuring adequate access to food for all its citizens. Factors like population growth, climate change, and socio-economic disparities contribute to the complexities of the food protection plan.
2. Importance of Food Safety: The participants emphasized the crucial role of food safety in the overall food protection plan. Contaminated food poses severe health risks and can lead to widespread illnesses. Therefore, integrating food safety measures in the planning process is essential to maintain public health.

3. Introduction to Multiple Objective Programming Technique: The concept of Multiple Objective Programming Technique (MOPT) was introduced during the session. MOPT is a decision-making approach that helps optimize multiple conflicting objectives simultaneously. By applying MOPT, decision-makers can find solutions that achieve a balance between various goals, such as maximizing food production, minimizing environmental impact, and ensuring equitable distribution.
4. Data Collection and Analysis: To implement MOPT effectively, the session highlighted the significance of accurate and reliable data. Robust data collection and analysis play a critical role in identifying the key challenges and opportunities in India's food protection plan.
5. Identifying Objectives and Constraints: The participants discussed the importance of defining clear objectives and constraints for the food protection plan. These objectives may include ensuring food availability, affordability, accessibility, and sustainability, while considering factors like budget constraints, environmental impacts, and social equity.
6. Application of MOPT in Food Protection: During the practical demonstration, the session illustrated how MOPT can be applied to India's food protection plan. The participants were presented with a hypothetical scenario and worked collaboratively to identify the best possible solutions based on multiple objectives.
7. Policy Recommendations: Based on the MOPT analysis, the session concluded with valuable policy recommendations for improving food security and safety in India. These recommendations emphasized the need for sustainable agricultural practices, efficient distribution systems, enhanced food safety regulations, and targeted social welfare programs to address food insecurity.

Conclusion: The session on "Food Protection Plan in India: An Application of Multiple Objective Programming Technique" provided valuable insights into addressing the challenges of food security and safety in the country. The use of MOPT was found to be a promising approach to optimize resource allocation and develop comprehensive strategies for a resilient and sustainable food supply chain in India.

Session 8: Examining the relevance of Graham's criteria in Indian Stock Market

Resource Person: Dr. Kiranpreet Kaur

Date: 1st May, 2023

Time: 1:30 pm

The resource person presented research paper on "Examining the Relevance of Graham's Criteria in the Indian Stock Market" aimed to explore the applicability of Benjamin Graham's investment principles in the context of the Indian stock market. Additionally, the session highlighted the utilization of statistical tools, namely one-sample t-test and pooled ordinary least square (OLS) regression analysis, to assess the effectiveness of Graham's criteria in this unique financial landscape.

Key Highlights of the Presentation:

1. Background and Objectives: The session began by providing an overview of the background and objectives of the research paper. Dr. Kiranpreet emphasized the significance of Benjamin Graham's principles in value investing and sought to investigate their relevance in the Indian stock market. The objectives included evaluating the performance of Indian stocks based on Graham's criteria and assessing the potential correlation between adherence to these criteria and stock returns.
2. Benjamin Graham's Investment Principles: The presentation started with a concise review of Benjamin Graham's investment principles, emphasizing the focus on fundamental analysis, value investing, and the various criteria for selecting undervalued stocks. The audience was reminded of key metrics such as price-to-earnings ratio, price-to-book ratio, dividend yield, and the net current asset value approach.
3. Methodology: The presenter then outlined the methodology used in the research paper. A mixed-method approach was adopted, consisting of quantitative analysis and statistical tools. Historical stock market data for a selected sample of Indian companies was collected, and the companies were evaluated based on Graham's criteria. The one-sample t-test was used to determine whether the average returns of Graham-compliant stocks differed significantly from the market average. Additionally, the pooled OLS regression analysis was employed to examine the relationship between adherence to Graham's criteria and stock performance.
4. Data Analysis and Findings: The presentation proceeded to present the findings of the research paper. The results of the one-sample t-test showed that Graham-compliant stocks, on average, exhibited a statistically significant difference in returns compared to the market average. The pooled OLS regression analysis indicated a positive correlation between adherence to Graham's criteria and higher stock returns in the Indian market, though the strength of the correlation varied among different criteria.
5. Discussion: Following the findings, the presentation opened up a discussion on the implications of the research. Participants engaged in analyzing the practical application of Graham's criteria in the Indian stock market and considered potential limitations and challenges in the implementation of these principles.
6. Conclusion and Recommendations: The session concluded with a summary of the research paper's main findings and their implications. It was emphasized that Benjamin Graham's investment principles could be relevant in the Indian context, and investors may benefit from incorporating these criteria into their stock selection process. However, it was also acknowledged that investors should supplement Graham's principles with additional analysis and market insights to account for the unique dynamics of the Indian stock market.

Overall, the session provided valuable insights into the relevance of Graham's criteria in the Indian stock market and the effective use of statistical tools such as one-sample t-test and pooled OLS regression analysis to assess investment strategies. The research paper's findings offered a foundation for further exploration and refinement of investment approaches that combine time-tested principles with contemporary statistical techniques.

Session 9: Impact of Foreign Direct Investment on Developing Asian Economies with special reference to India: An empirical analysis

Resource Person: Dr. Rajiv Bhatia

Date: 13th May, 2023

Time: 12:00 noon

The resource person presented a research paper on the "Impact of Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) on Developing Asian Economies," with a focus on India as a case study. The research paper aimed to empirically analyse the relationship between FDI and economic growth, employment, technological advancement, and trade in the context of developing Asian countries, with India as a prominent representative.

He presented his following research objectives:

1. To examine the trends and patterns of FDI inflows in developing Asian economies over a specific period.
2. To assess the impact of FDI on the economic growth of these countries, with a particular emphasis on India.
3. To analyse the role of FDI in generating employment opportunities and technology transfer in the region.
4. To explore the linkage between FDI and international trade in the selected economies.

Methodology: The research paper employed a combination of quantitative and qualitative methods to achieve the stated objectives. The primary data sources included official statistics, reports from international organizations, and national economic databases. The empirical analysis utilized econometric models to establish causal relationships between FDI and various economic indicators.

Prof. Rajiv Bhatia presented following FDI Trends in Developing Asian Economies:

1. FDI Inflows: The research paper identified the significant growth in FDI inflows to developing Asian economies, driven by factors such as market size, labor force, and regulatory reforms. India emerged as one of the leading recipients of FDI in the region.
2. Sectoral Distribution: The study examined the sectoral distribution of FDI, highlighting the importance of manufacturing, services, and infrastructure sectors in attracting foreign investments.

Impact of FDI on Economic Growth:

1. Positive Impact: The research findings demonstrated a positive and statistically significant correlation between FDI inflows and economic growth in developing Asian economies, including India. FDI was found to contribute significantly to gross domestic product (GDP) growth and capital formation.
2. Technology Transfer and Innovation: FDI played a crucial role in facilitating the transfer of technology and best practices, enhancing the technological capabilities of domestic industries.

The presentation of the research paper on the "Impact of Foreign Direct Investment on Developing Asian Economies with Special Reference to India" revealed the significance of FDI as a catalyst for economic growth, job creation, technology transfer, and international trade. The empirical analysis provided valuable insights into the benefits of FDI for developing Asian countries, particularly India, and underscored the need for conducive policies to attract and retain foreign investments. By leveraging FDI effectively, these economies can enhance their competitiveness, foster innovation, and achieve sustainable development in an increasingly interconnected global landscape.

Session 10: A study of Corporate Governance Practices Followed by Leading corporate houses in India

Resource Person: Dr. Charanjit Kaur

Date: 3rd June, 2023

Time: 12:00 noon

The resource person presented her thesis on the study of corporate governance practices followed by leading corporate houses in India. The session aimed to analyse and understand the corporate governance frameworks implemented by prominent companies in the country, with a focus on transparency, accountability, and ethical standards.

Session Objectives:

1. To examine the corporate governance principles adopted by leading Indian corporate houses.
2. To assess the effectiveness of corporate governance practices in ensuring sustainable growth and stakeholder protection.
3. To identify any gaps or challenges in the implementation of corporate governance standards.

Methodology: The study adopted a mixed-method approach, combining qualitative and quantitative data collection methods. Primary data was gathered through interviews with corporate executives and board members, while secondary data was obtained from annual reports, regulatory filings, and relevant literature.

She presented following Corporate Governance Practices followed in Leading Corporate Houses:

1. Board Structure and Composition:

- The majority of companies follow a unitary board structure with a mix of executive and independent non-executive directors.
- Companies prioritize diversity in board composition, including gender and skill diversity, to enhance decision-making.

2. Board Independence:

- Many leading corporate houses have a higher proportion of independent directors to ensure unbiased decision-making and safeguard stakeholders' interests.

3. Executive Compensation:

- Companies tend to link executive compensation to performance metrics, aligning the interests of management with those of shareholders.
- There is an increasing emphasis on disclosing executive compensation details to ensure transparency.

4. Risk Management:

- Robust risk management committees are established to identify, assess, and mitigate potential risks.
- Companies emphasize the importance of a risk-aware culture throughout the organization.

5. Stakeholder Engagement:

- Corporate houses in India recognize the significance of engaging with various stakeholders, including shareholders, employees, customers, and communities.
- Regular communication channels and periodic reporting mechanisms are employed to keep stakeholders informed.

6. Ethics and Compliance:

- A strong emphasis is placed on ethical behavior and adherence to legal and regulatory requirements.
- Companies implement comprehensive compliance programs to prevent fraud and corruption.

7. Audit and Internal Control:

- Leading corporate houses maintain internal audit departments to monitor and improve internal controls and financial reporting processes.
- External audit firms are appointed to conduct annual audits, ensuring financial accuracy and transparency.

Overall, this session provided participants with a thorough understanding of the different corporate governance practices followed by leading corporate houses.
